Summary

Register now for a free, interactive online workshop, Saturday, March 20, to learn about multiple myeloma, a disease more than twice as common in people of African descent as in whites. From "Myeloma for Patients Who Are Just Getting Started" to the latest in treatments and research, this comprehensive program also features a myeloma patient's story and an opportunity for the audience to ask questions. The workshop is part of "M-Power Charlotte," an initiative of the International Myeloma Foundation dedicated to empowering people to change the course of myeloma in the community.
