ABOUT THE COMPANY

Our Mission and Vision

Hi, my name is Carla Stone, founder and owner of Translatable LLC. My educational background is in Linguistics. I have always had a passion for understanding the science behind language learning. In my professional career I became exposed to the realm of data annotation for machine learning purposes. I quickly fell in love with working with the latest technology to help train and develop machine learning algorithms.

In 2019, I formally established Translatable LLC. It has always been my goal to offer high quality data solution services to consumers and businesses alike. Our mission is to provide language services that are reliable and relatable. Our vision is to expand our team to empower other women to pursue linguistic careers in STEM. We work to protect the integrity of current and future technologies.
