SYNOPSIS

PROJECT INTERFACE
FILE 0009-CEG

In the future there will be no movies, no TV no video games, no smart phones or internet. There will only be The iNTERFACE. Those who control the Interface will control the world. Those who hack the interface will free the world.

The ultimate gaming console is the human mind. When the games begin to kill the players in real life, one cop must go undercover into the virtual world of gaming to bring these deadly mind- hackers down for good.

Interface is a science fiction action thriller in the vein of movies like “The Matrix,” “Inception,” “The Hunger Games,” “Blade Runner” and the upcoming “Ready Player One.” It is an epic story set in a future world run by artificial intelligence. A world where personal freedom and personal expression is suppressed. The masses live tedious lives of drudgery working menial jobs in an Orwellian nightmare. All humans are controlled by implanted microchips that monitor their every doing. Man’s only release is a massive virtual world known as “The Interface.” The Interface is an alternate reality that plugs right into the player’s brain. It is a computer generated dream world where humans can “jack in” and live as lavish and perfect a life as they can afford as long as it is within the rigid moral code of the state. The Interface is man’s greatest addiction and greatest distraction.

The sanitized government controlled world of The Interface, however, isn’t enough for some. Some people desire a more “visceral” experience. Enter “The Jailbreakers.” The Jailbreakers are underground hackers who have learned to hack the implanted chips and allow people to jack into worlds created by outlaw gamers. In these outlaw games the players can immerse themselves into every type of dangerous, lascivious, sexual, perverse or violent experience they can imagine.

When “The Lazarus Hack” hits the black market, the game is changed for good. Whatever happens to the player in the hack happens to them in real life. Soon people are literally dying to play. Enter Special Agent Lenora Cree of the “Department of Cyber Security.” She is a driven, highly trained, by-the-book agent loyal to the state. She will be sent undercover into the gritty world of underworld hackers. In this world she will be teamed up with Elijah Stovall, a hard-nosed, dirty cop with a heart of gold who has his hand in both worlds. This odd couple must work together to Bring Lazarus down before he brings the whole System down. In this topsy-turvy world, who is good and who is evil?
