

About COLA Inc.

Our goal is simple – to use education to help you improve your lab and serve your patients better.

COLA Inc. accredits more than 7,000 medical laboratories and provides the clinical laboratory with a program of education, consultation, and accreditation. The organization is an independent, non-profit accreditor whose education-based program and standards enable clinical laboratories and staff to meet U.S. CLIA 88 and other regulatory requirements.

Our Mission

COLA, Inc. is a physician-directed organization whose purpose is to promote health and safety through accreditation and educational programs.

Our services are designed to improve your clinical laboratory as a whole, giving you confidence that your facility provides the best patient care. By weaving education throughout all of our services, we work with you to prepare your lab to meet regulatory requirements.

COLA Inc. helps you ensure accurate test results, run your lab in accordance with quality systems, and meet CLIA accreditation requirements in order to serve your patients better.
