Details

Maintaining proper iron levels is crucial during pregnancy, since your body provides support to your baby around the clock. But iron supplements can have unwanted effects for expectant moms, who may already be dealing with nausea or constipation. Milkmaid® Iron Supplement Cookie Bites are here for you! Made with twice the iron in a serving of spinach and fiber rich oats, these mini chocolate chip cookies pack a powerful and delicious nutrient punch. If food is a love language, these pregnancy cookies deliver a double dose: iron for your growing baby and a tasty snack for you. Indulge guilt free while enjoying a gentle iron boost. When you're eating for two, there's nothing sweeter than a treat that doubles as nourishment! Enjoy 1 serving of cookies daily. Do not exceed 2 bags of cookies daily unless directed by your doctor or healthcare provider.
