Hands down the worst lock I've purchased. Got these for my tent while camping because I have a toddler and I couldn't set any other combination besides what it comes pre saved as. Ive got tons of locks similar to these and never had an issue before. Not sure if these were just defective or if the instructions are wrong?

Setting your own code was easy. Locking it took me a minute. Most locks you feel the click when the shaft is seated, this doesn't have that. You must roll the numbers around to have the shaft locked in place. Once I figured that out, I really liked this little lock. Perfect size for what I needed it for.

I purchased these to lock a Pelican case full of camera gear. If I had taken the time to read all the details I would of seen how small they really are. They were to small for what I needed. So I am now using them to lock my padlock keys to one of my gun cases. So yeah my padlock keys are locked to the padlock on my gun case using these Master combo locks. Yes they are that small. Actually works quite well.

Great little locks! I use this to lock my side yard gate, and it works perfectly. I've had it out there for about a month and haven't had any issues yet with rusting.

I found that these locks were the perfect size for my backpack and duffel bag. I purchased another set of locks at first, but the actual wire portion was way too thick to fit in my backpack and duffel bag zipper pulls. These, on the other hand, fit perfectly and locked my bags without a problem. I had no trouble resetting, unlocking, and locking them throughout my trip!

These locks are exactly as described in the listing and I am pleased with them. I had no difficulty setting the custom lock combinations I desired and they are useful for the exact purpose I needed them. Note: these are not "high security" by any means -- it wouldn't take much from bolt cutters or even a hefty pair of pliers to breach them.
