People come first, which is why 40% of every bottle purchased is given straight to those our communities. We are all made of something good — so why should the water you drink be any different?

Good Water partners with non-profits across North America to begin bringing stability and security within the homeless community: both near and far.

We don't believe that homeless equates to hopeless. Our actions come first which means that together we step up, reach out, and put the effort in.

Each bottle makes a donation on your behalf through Good Water. You are making a difference and bringing hope back to neighborhoods with every sip of the Good stuff.
