Secure – safe smart spaces

Secure tracks real-time occupancy within spaces or places in any environment. Individuals can now view occupancy levels in meeting rooms, co-working spaces, the coffee shop next door or their neighborhood supermarket via the Secure app or website. Secure also monitors air quality, ambient temperature and sanitization frequency among a host of other features, aiding a person's decision when to enter a space or place.

Beyond making occupants feel safe, Secure provides access to a digital version of a property, allowing you to view the property's real-time performance from wherever you are. Whether you wanted to know if the air-conditioners were on in a meeting room or the restroom was due for cleaning, you would have visibility of all the operations at your fingertips. This is because the Secure platform includes a 3D digital replica of your building (known as a digital twin), meaning you can manage the building's performance and facility services, from energy consumption to carbon emissions, regardless of whether you are in the building or miles away.
