Hyper 29 Explorer Men's Dual Suspension bike

This Hyper 29 Explorer Men's Dual Suspension Mountain Bike in Red is a great bike, especially if you are looking for something for tall people. I am 6 foot 2 inches and I am comfortable on it. Shifts really well. I would definitely recommend this too anyone looking for a good bike for tall people.

Poor quality bike from top to bottom

The Hyper 29 in. Explorer Men's Dual Suspension Mountain Bike is extremely low priced for a dual suspension bike, and unfortunately the quality matches. There is not a single component of this bike that is even of average quality. Even the tires feel cheap and plastic-like. Assembly was pretty easy as all that was needed was to attach the handlebars (although I had to try a second time because the brake cables got twisted, so be sure to align them properly before tightening), attach the seat, the pedals, and each of the wheels. Then lubricate the chain, brakes and cables and you're ready to ride. Total assembly took less than 30 minutes. The shifting style is nice and similar to what's found on modern mountain bikes, yet as no surprise the ...

Really nice looking bike

Where should i begin. This bike is great , it has a beautiful red powder coat paint job and black wheels and handle bars.The bike also has front and back suspension which is really easy on my body. The front and rear disk brakes took some getting used to, but after some adjustments they work great.I ride a lot so i had to change out the narrow factory seat, and i added my phone mount, camera and mirrors. The nine speed seems to work better than my 21 speed, it is less complicated and easy to ride. I love it.

Well built bike but easy on the pocket

So far my husband is really enjoying this bike. It is well built with a sturdy frame and quality parts. Compared to his older aluminum bike, this is a huge step up in quality. The ride is smooth on our black top drive way but you can definitely tell that it is ready for a much rougher terrain. The 29" size is perfect for my almost 6' tall husband. The only downside to the bike was the instructions for putting it together. Most everything is already assembled except the wheels, handle bars, seat and pedals but for some reason we had a small problem with where the brake wires were actually supposed to go around the frame. The instructions wasn't exactly clear and we felt that they hung a little lower than they really should have. No real prob...

Good Exercise

I love my new bicycle! I had not been on a bike for about 30 years until I received this one, so it is incredible compared to what I used to ride. It was fast and simple to assemble from the large box it shipped in. You just need to install the front wheel, handlebars, pedals and insert the seat post into the frame. I did not have any issues assembling the bike by myself, and it only took about fifteen minutes to complete. Be sure and tighten every nut and bolt on the bike before you ride it! I needed to adjust the brakes after my first test ride but that was simple to do also. Make sure the wheels are turning smoothly and not rubbing against the brake pads! If it is, loosen the two screws and move the brakes until the disk is even between ...

Excellent

I expected a lot but this is much more than I expected. I am in Florida so I won't be able to drive it on the mountains but only for the moment. Assemble it was easy with some skills and tools what I think every mountain biker has to have if not don't do in wilderness with bike. After assembling I took a test drive and then did some adjustments, and then again. Now it is how it is supposed to be. It is well built and sturdy, sturdier than I expected and I wouldn't be afraid to go way off road with it. After all just don't forget to activate you limited Life time Warranty what for me tells a lot. Ye if you are looking for mountain bike don't look further buy this one.
