ABOUT BANJO

We only use 100% organic, fair trade beans roasted by Cafe Campesino. We are known for our cold brewing, but have expanded into other cafe specialties. Our methods are sustainable, and our coffee is brewed in small

THE SHOP

Check out our shop located in Avondale Estates. Here you can try all of our current/seasonal coffees on tap, and also an array of hot beverages, crafted espresso drinks, and locally sourced food and beverages. After working at coffee shops (in the corner sipping a cup) for years, we wanted to make the atmosphere warm, buzzing with

ABOUT US

Banjo Cold Brew Coffee utilizes a signature Slow n' Low method of cold brewing to extract the most complex notes over 24 hours. Using only the freshest organic and fairly traded beans, Banjo's craft process draws a superior product with low acidity that is great straight up, on the rocks or accompanied with your preferred mixer.

Debuted in 2015 with two original flavors (Pitch Black and Sweetly Tuned), Banjo has now expanded it's repertoire to include two additional brews: Harmonious Chai (a cold brew steeped with all natural chai spices) and Bittersweet Symphony (a twist on New Orleans style coffee with chicory, cacao nibs, and Madagascar vanilla).

Founded by husband and wife team, Billy and Chasidy Atchison, along with lifelong friend, Sebastian Kegel, Banjo originated at a small farmer's market on the east side of Atlanta. Banjo can now be found throughout the Southeast in specialty shops, restaurants and grocery chains, such as Whole Foods, Kroger and Central Market. You can also try exciting variations served on tap, Nitro style, at music festivals, farmers' markets, special events, as well as, Banjo Coffee Brewing Co., a newly opened brewery and shop on the east side of Atlanta, across the street from that same farmer's market where it all began.
