Question: What are the dimensions of this?

Answer: It's about 12 inches deep 12 inches wide and 20 tall. Plus the side pockets which are another 2 or 3 inches on each side (big enough to hold a nalgene bottle in each side pocket). It's a 50 liter pack so its pretty big. It would be probably considered a "three day pack" meaning you could store enough enough stuff for t... see more

Question: Can i add velcro to the front panel between the molle strip? or can i slip a coat/ jacket under the front panel?

Answer: No the front panel is not actually a pocket, its just for show. You cant slide anything underneath it. But as the other user said, you could tie some 550 cord around a loop somewhere and hang you jacket off of that.

Question: Does this have straps across the bottom to lash things to it?

Answer: No, there are no bottom straps. The top strap is the same as your shoulder harness tension straps to so strapping to the top doesn't work very well either.

★★★★☆ 72 hour bug out bag

Reviewed in the United States us on June 23, 2023

Color: Tan | Verified Purchase

Well, I bought 4 of these, 3 to make into bug out bags, one as an accident but now in use as my toolbag. I've got no complaints, but can think of some things which would improve it.

First is two loops on the bottom. There seems to be no reason for them. Used as lashing points for a sleeping bag, the bag will just swing and unbalance you. And there are no corresponding points to secure it to have the sleeping bag attach to the bottom. So I had to improvise an attachment where the waist belt is attached.

Next is the fact there is some wasted space on it, with no zipper to open a decorative section. If there was a zipper, maps and documents could be stashed in it, leaving the maps and documents safe and out of the way.

Next, there is no padding on the waist belt. This makes it only suited for short stretches of time. An accessory set of pads would help. Also the waist belt is relatively short. Thankfully the waist belt for the

★★★★☆ Not meant for long hikes

Reviewed in the United States us on March 20, 2023

Color: 01-black With Patch | Verified Purchase

I think the thing I like the most about this backpack is the Molle feature. This has lots of pockets for a variety of load out options. I actually removed the hip pack and replaced it with my sleeping bag with a pair of custom straps. Worked out great. The number of Molle loops make this bag ideal for creating a quick bug out bag with supplies and materials to last up to three days. Beyond that, hunting skills will be required.

The Biggest detractor is the waist belt. It is little more than just two inch nylon webbing. While you can certainly cinch it down tight enough to take the weight off your shoulders, after a few hours, it begins to dig into your waist line. Eventually gravity will take over and the weight will transfer back to your shoulders. This isn't a big deal if you are carrying a light load, but can become uncomfortable quickly if you are on a trail. The company would certainly fix this issue with the introduction of an attachable padded to attach to the already present belt. This would go a long way toward long term comfort on the trail.

Very happy with what I received. I use this bag for ham radio activities and works great. Inside lining a little questionable. Would like to see if it last. However so far zero issues. Like all of the pouches as it allows me to organize my tools and equipment. Outside material is great and rugged. I'm a bigger guy and the straps are great.

Got this for a combination hiking/BOB.

The bag is made from a heavy-duty nylon, like another gym bag I have. Overall, it's capacious, has plenty of MOLLE webbing to attach pouches, and I love the fact that it has load-lifters that clip in over the top of the bag.

★★★★☆ It's mostly good

Reviewed in the United States us on June 1, 2023

Color: 02-black | Verified Purchase

Overall I like the bag, it is big and has multiple pockets, both large and small. The back does have additional attachments that can be used for extra storage. My biggest complaint with the bag is that the extra storage bags are held on with snaps. If the bag gets snagged on a branch it can cause the snaps to come undone. It does not happen everytime but it happens enough to where I find myself checking to see if I dropped anything.

★★★★★ Extremely versatile pack, spoken too soon!

Reviewed in the United States us on March 26, 2023

Color: Tan | Verified Purchase

Nice HD material, the zippers look to be of good quality. Closures have snap fit buckles, I have not had the opportunity to load it up and carry it using the pack straps however they appear to be of similar high quality as the rest of the bag. The MOLLE system is a nice upgrade from the ALICE system that I carried in Vietnam.

Appears to be a high quality product at a very reasonable price.

I finally got out to the range with this loaded up and was I disappointed. One side and the front add-on pouches kept falling off, the snaps do not hold! The front pouch a s small handgun in a nylon holster, four 7-round mags of .380 the entire thing including the pouch weighed less than 4lbs 4 oz and it would not stay on. By the time I loaded the pack into my vehicle they had both fallen off twice. Things got worse at the range. Just shows how looks are deceiving. The Molle system on these is nothing like the UDGI system I was shown by a range warden today. Since it's made by the CCP I can see why they would want components to be falling off of it. Don't waste your money, spend more and buy American.

PROS: It's big. Waist belts. Comfortable to wear. Material. Love the zippers.

CONS: main section has no pockets of it's know. Buying extra bags. Lol I can get over that one.

But my main complaint is the snaps that hold on the extra bags need to be bigger/stronger. I have almost lost the mid section bag twice now because they came undone.

Recommend: Yes as long as they are aware of the cons.

The only drawback is that the product when empty, is already very heavy. I am a senior and wanted to use this as an emergency go bag. Once it was packed it could not be carried by me. Might be OK for military or
