To calculate board feet: multiply length (feet) x width (inches) x thickness (inches) and divide by 12
Example: An 8 ft long x 6" wide x 1 inch thick board has 8 x 6 x 1 / 12 = 4 bdf

RARE OPPORTUNITY: We have incredible mahogany that is less expensive than walnut.

Lumber prices are going up, you know that if you've been doing any shopping for wood. We are trying to keep our prices down and if you compare prices, we are about half the price of the Big Box Stores. Here is an example: Red Oak at Big Box Store 1"x6"x8" is $53.00 That's $13 per board foot!

Our Red Oak is $6 per board foot. We are less than half the price for a higher quality board.

Baseline prices are for 4/4 boards up to 6". At 6" and wider, the price increases 50 cents per bdf, and there is another price break at 10" and wider, where the price goes up another 50 cents per bdf. This accurately reflects National Hardwood Lumber Association (NHLA) grading standards.

Our wood has been kiln dried and skip planed 2 sides. Some items or sizes may be temporarily sold out

A Board Foot is the surface square foot of a board multiplied by thickness. So a 12"x12" board 1 inch thick is 1 square foot or 1 board foot. If the thickness goes to 2" then multiply the square footage by 2 because there is twice as much wood in the board. If the board is 3" thick, multiply the square footage by 3, because there is 3 times the amount of wood in the board.
