HYDRIL®

Two leaders serving the energy industry have joined forces in Houston.

Tenaris, a leading global supplier of tubular products and services, and Hydril, a leading supplier of premium connection and pressure control products, have merged. Together we are in a stronger position than ever to serve the increasingly complex needs of the energy industry, and to build a thriving enterprise. It's a perfect connection for our customers, shareholders and employees alike.

Tubular technologies. Innovative services.
