Let technology do the work

Venture is built on The Collaboration Network - a framework to combine vital project team functions and enable effective two-way communication. Establish a collaborative environment from pre-construction and continue this through the life cycle of the project. Centralize all of your data in one location designed to streamline construction project management and deliver information to project member from any location via the web.

- Intuitive searches and tracking features
- Upload and download multiple folders and files in a single step
- Innovative tools to enhance your projects' workflow

Through The Collaboration Network, you can take a bird's-eye view of your entire project or drill down to the smallest detail. It connects the final project team with a living version of the project plans, specifications and other documents from start to finish. It is web-based to provide 24/7 access to the latest version of plans, specs and other construction documents. Version control is automatic and foolproof, while changes are tracked automatically.

The Collaboration Network uses leading-edge technology to provide an environment where your project content flows instantly among project team members. The experience is consistent, personal, and branded with your company logo.
