Product Description

Kollagen technology represents one of the most promising breakthroughs in wound healing. By mimicking the body's own collagen, these Type I fibrillar bovine collagen particles help to create a biological response, attracting the cellular components necessary to stimulate the healing process. They stop bleeding as they bind to specific receptor sites, aid in wound cleansing and the establishment of new tissue and blood vessels, and create a structural matrix for healing. Indicated for undermined/tunneled, infected/contaminated, deep cavity, surgical and traumatic wounds that are draining.
