

Your feet are swollen, you haven't had coffee in months, the internet is telling you the size of your baby in terms of vegetables, and the nesting urge has set in. You're worried. You're ecstatic. You wonder if you're going to be a good parent and hoping for 10 fingers and 10 toes. Will they like reading and writing? Will they be good at math? Will they be a goofball and make you laugh, or serious and make you think?

Maybe you already have kids. They give your tummy kisses and want to read stories to your person-to-be. You've done this before, but it's a little different this time. It's a growing belly, a growing family.

Whether you're a first time parent or an old pro, you'll learn/know that Prince Lionheart makes life's grand improvisation easier. It's a wipesWARMER because cold isn't comfy, a diaperDEPOT for organized chaos during those 3am changes, and a slumberBEAR to help Baby (and you) get Back to Sleep®.
