XP stands for experience points in most games. It's the same for the Answer HQ. By showing your knowledge and experience within the AHQ, you can earn XP. Great ideas, answers to posts, even great questions can be given XP by other community members, moderators or administrators.
If you ask a question and someone has a great answer, click the XP button to give them some XP.

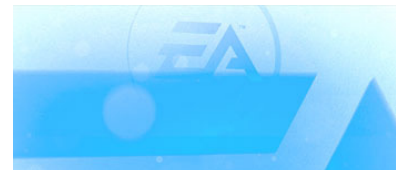

XP in games is how you level up your character to unlock XP is basically Kudos, right?

In that case, give it when you want to give the user a pat on the back :P

What are the ranks (Keeper, lookout, sentinel, hero) and how much XP I need to reach for next rank?

HERO (RETIRED)

@AngryMister

Keeper, lookout, sentinel, Marshall, Protector, Vanguard, Harbinger, Chosen. I may have missed one but that is what i remember. Hero isn't earned by XP, rather showing the Community managers you have enough of what it takes to represent the community here and help out others.
