Message: Thank you so much for posting everywhere signs that 'you at beautiful" I have been in a emotional, mentally and physical abuse relationship with my ex for 8 years. And just this past Christmas I was able to get away from him only because he went to jail. 2 years ago I was hopeless and down and spiritually beat because of him. Before I met him I had high spirits and such high self esteem. I lost all that and began to see scars of abuse the wear and tear of my mental state. I don't know how long your sign has been up on lakeshore drive south but I looked up one day and God showed me your sign and at that instant I was thinking that I was no longer beautiful but when I seen your sign it reminded me that I was still beautiful. Your sign kelp my spirits up every time I past it to go to work and I still see it and it reminds me every day that I'm somebody and I will be loved by someone. I always wanted to find the person who started this movement to thank them. So I greatly thank you from the bottom of my heart. You may have saved my life.

Hi Tiffany,

Thank you so much for reaching out, and sharing your story with me. I can't tell you how much it means to hear that.

Thank YOU.

:)
