

The Complete Compliance and Ethics Manual

Content

Related Citations:

Using Incentives in Your Compliance and Ethics Program

By Joseph E. Murphy, JD, CCEP[®]

Table of Contents

- Introduction
- Scope
- Objections to Using Incentives
 - People Should Not Be Rewarded for Doing Their Jobs
 - It is Impossible to Evaluate Employees' Virtue or Ethics
 - This Area Is too Subjective, Unlike Sales or Production
 - Risk of Use Against Company in Litigation
 - OSHA's Concerns
 - Compliance and Ethics People Should Stick to Their Own Business
- Reasons for Using Incentives
 - U.S. Government's Standards
 - Other Standards
 - Practical Reasons
- Personnel Evaluations
- Input on Promotions
- Compliance and Ethics Input in All Incentive/Reward Systems
- Rewards and Recognition
- Rewards and Recognition for Compliance and Ethics Staff
- What about Whistleblowers?
- Conclusion
- Credits and Bibliography
- APPENDIX 3-BB
 - Evaluation Form
- APPENDIX 3-CC
 - Recognition Letter
- APPENDIX 3-DD
 - Ideas for Using Incentives in Compliance and Ethics Programs

Introduction

By Daniel R. Roach, VP Compliance & Internal Audit, Catholic Healthcare West; Co-chair, Society of Corporate Compliance and Ethics

Incentives help drive behavior!