

EXHIBIT A

There are plenty of family owned supermarkets, but there's only one Seasons—a place that embraces every customer, employee, and vendor as part of the family.

Seasons was born out of a passion to create a kosher shopping experience that goes beyond convenience and selection—a place where people actually want to shop and where people want to work. A place that embraces every customer, employee, and vendor as part of the family. A place where the small things count, and everyone is warmly welcomed. And although we've grown from our very first store opened in 2011 to become the nation's largest kosher supermarket chain, we will never lose site of our mission to become a vital part of every Jewish community and put the priorities of our extended Seasons family first.

Shop with Seasons and shop with family.
