Holly and friend, Penny.

Becca, the wonder dog.

About Holly Godfrey

I have been an animal-lover all my life. My dog Becca, pictured below with a stick, taught me much about mutual respect and cooperation between animals and humans. (And how to throw large sticks!)

I have been working with dogs in various capacities for 20 years, including helping friends train their dogs and managing a dog daycare and boarding business. More recently, several of these years were spent both volunteering and working at the Humane Society of Chittenden County (HSUS), including a year as the Humane Investigator and three years as the Canine Supervisor. I helped rescue animals in New Orleans after Hurricane Katrina, and have worked with HSUS in rescuing and caring for animals involved in hoarding situations or seized from dog-fighting rings or puppy-mills. I am a member of the Association of Professional Dog Trainers and of the Pet Professional Guild, both of which have the mission of educating trainers and pet-owners in humane training methods. I have also taken training with Family Paws Parent Education, helping dog owners create safety and a lasting bond between the family dog and the new baby or toddler.

In addition to constantly updating my knowledge through reading and attending courses and conferences, I took professional training with Gail Fisher, a premier clicker trainer at All Dogs Gym in NH, and am a graduate and Certified Training Partner with Karen Pryor Academy. Clicker (or marker) training is a force-free, very fun and effective training method that teaches dogs to think and make "good" decisions. Dogs are intelligent animals with active minds, and they will think whether we want them to or not, so it is to our benefit to channel their thinking productively!

From my time with HSUS, I have a clear picture of the kinds of situations and behaviors that result in dogs ending up abandoned or in shelters, most notably a lack of early socialization and an absence of basic training. This is such a pervasive problem, and one so easily remedied, that I am committed to educating dog—and especially puppy—owners to socialize and train their dogs, even if they don't foresee a need for their dog to ever interact with the public. You just never know what life will bring! Plus, friendly dogs with basic manners have more interesting and fun lives—in short, they get to go places! Unsocialized dogs or those with poor manners usually end up staying home.

My philosophy of dog training is that dogs are our partners and companions, not our servants. Animals have intrinsic worth, not just in relation to humans. Respect and trust should flow in both directions. The methods I use are supported by scientific research as the best and most humane ways to train animals, and based on a cooperative, not an adversarial, relationship with our dogs; there is no dominating, leash-jerking, or alpha-rolling. Since we bring dogs into our foreign human world, we need to teach them kindly how to live successfully within it so we can all live happily together. This is training.

But we can go so far beyond that. We can learn to know our dogs as intelligent individuals, and to have FUN with them, so that their lives and ours are mutually benefited and enriched. And in doing so, we become students as well as teachers.

"In order to really enjoy a dog, one doesn't merely try to train him to be semi-human.

The point of it is to open oneself to the possibility of becoming partly a dog."

All of our handlers have backgrounds in law enforcement, military, and/or security. Each handler undergoes a rigorous background check and is required to maintain a New York State Security, or Peace Officer license, as well as a TWIC Card (Transportation Workers ID Credential). All handlers go through a 480-hour training course and are certified annually through nationally recognized third party organization.

Working Dogs:

Maximum K9 Detection Service uses dogs directly from prized European blood lines. Each dog goes through a selection process to evaluate the unique traits desired for work. We look for environmentally strong dogs, with high levels of hunt, prey, and play drive. This is the starting point to a lifelong, strenuous training process.

Training:

Our in-house training program is key to our success. We believe that living with an animal, raising them through the various life stages, and actually handling them on a job gives Maximum K9 Detection Service the insight to make any necessary adjustments in real time. By actually living and breathing this process, we are continuously shaping behaviors to adapt to the environment and the specific task at hand. Dog training is a lifelong process, and to achieve maximum potential there must be a vested relationship between dog, handler, and trainer. This relationship must be consistently maintained. Once the proper dog is selected, we then begin the process of setting the foundation for the desired task. We then continue to build upon this foundation as the dog advances within their job. The plan includes benchmarks and goals that are expected to be met at various stages of the dog's training and life-cycle. Our training program will consist of, but will not be limited to, intense levels of socialization, environmental awareness, obedience, channeling drives, and an imprinting and proofing regimen geared to the specific work at hand. We do not cross train our dogs. Detection dogs are trained on either narcotics, explosives, or bed bugs. Our dogs will alert any findings with a passive indication method. All Dog and Handler teams are mandated to attend weekly training sessions via Maximum K9 Detection Service. We train on odors minimally five times a week in various locations under a multitude of distractions. Our team will periodically attend seminars and conferences and will train in conjunction with other handlers and organizations. We believe that this peer to peer integration will educate and broaden the spectrum of the K9 detection industry. Regular training is a vital necessity for the high performance of all K9 teams. All of our dog teams will certify within our organization Quarterly. Annually our dog and handler teams will certify via American Working Dogs organization and/or TripWire Operations Group. These business relationships give us the opportunity to imprint our K9 teams on several types of large hides, including conventional and improvised explosives ranging from 25-5,000 lbs. This entire process greatly improves and validates the performance of our company.

"I'm impressed with Metro K-9's detection services. After speaking with them, it was suggested that a sweep be conducted during the middle of the 3rd shift. Because of the outcome of Metro K9's search, skeletons began tumbling out of certain employee closets. Thank you, Metro K9 job well done. We now have another tool at our disposal."

Why use Metro K9 Drug Detection Services?

Scientific studies show a dog's sense of smell is 10,000 to 100,000 more accurate than a human's. This is the reason law enforcement and US Border Patrol use canine sniffers for narcotics detection.

Using drug sniffing dogs, officers have seized packages of marijuana hidden beneath the seats in a car as well as finding cocaine stored inside a tire.

We are 100% Private, Discreet and Confidential.

Veteran Owned / Semper Fi

Our Teams

Our teams can detect the following narcotics Marijuana, PCP, Cocaine, Heroin, Methamphetamine with the street name of "Ice, Glass and Crystal" and MDMA street name of "Ecstasy or Molly"

Our K-9's are carefully trained to safely and reliably work in a wide array of locations, including, homes, schools and workplace environments. When a sniffer dog detects an odor (residual or otherwise), it is trained to let the handler know with a passive signal. This allows drug discovery to be managed at our client's discretion.

Our Mission:

To provide a cost effective solution, tailored to our client's needs, for reliable drug detection at your location.
