

Gives you the keys to unlock your digital footprint and the tools to manage it as you want

Our story

We are all born honest, curious, social, and with an innate sense of justice. As we grow, we learn what belongs to us and we guard it with all our might.

Then, the digital age came along with opportunities, connections, and information about our world and about ourselves. Along the way, we lost ownership of what's ours online. We lock our front doors, yet reveal it all through digital windows.

At Mine, we have the keys to unlock the information that's out there about you. Our app empowers you to discover your digital footprint, and it gives you the tools to manage it as you want.

We are founded by three entrepreneurs from the tech world. We used our deep insight to balance the game between humans and big tech, while being completely transparent about how we run our company.

That's our promise to you and now we want you to claim what's yours.

Say Mine.

Our product

Discover your digital footprint. Map all companies that hold your information, what type of information they collect and who they share it with?

Understand your footprint. What are the risks of exposure to digital threats? How does your digital footprint relate to your real life?

Service ranking. Search any service and understand its compliance level (GDPR and user agreement analysis)

Put you in the driver seat. Exercise your legal rights in a click, manage your footprint and offer data breach mitigation

Mine is not just a product. Mine is a movement where businesses and users work together to reinvent how personal information is handled

Our team

Founding team

GAL GOLAN
CTO

GAL RINGEL
CEO

KOBI NISSAN
CPO

World leading investors

SABAN VENTURES

For businesses

Reduce your employees digital exposure to reduce your company exposure and avoid potential risks

Earn trust by helping your customers control their privacy

Fair exchange. Understand customer needs and expectations when it comes to privacy