Until now, if you wanted a real mountain bike with real components and seamless assist, your choices have been heavy fat tire beach bikes, or legacy brands charging over $4000 or more. Now you have a logical choice, the Cyberbike Frisco. A lightweight package with 500 watts of power, top-of-the-line battery range, and quality components, all for less than a gravel bike! You'll get so much more than other eBikes with the CyberBike Frisco, it's the real e-MTB experience for the adventurous rider. Performance, specs, and quality components throughout, and the best warranty in the industry, from an American company with US-based tech support.
