Conduct searches of property and community data from across the United States in the ProCure® web portal. View detailed property information and community profiles. Information can also be printed and e-mailed to others.

About ProCure®

ProCure® is a web-based database system used to store information about available industrial, commercial, retail, and office real estate. In addition, community information can be stored to correspond with each property record. Graphics and multi-media information can be attached to each record.

You can use ProCure® in two ways:

1. As a guest, you can search the entire universe of properties for free by clicking the "Search" button above, or
2. As a member, ProCure® can host and help you affordably manage your own building, site and community data.

Recent enhancements to ProCure® include:

- The program has a new and updated look.
- Member log in is easier and quicker.
- Guests to <http://www.e-procuresite.com> are no longer required to obtain a password to see details on the properties in the database.
- Improvements have been made to the Utility and Transportation pages of the property and community record input forms.
- Improvements have been made to the User records.
- PDF files can now be attached to the property and community records.
