

received a vision for my book. I knew I couldn't discuss everything in depth, but what if I filled the pages with so many seeds that readers would hear the crunch of acorns as they turned the pages? What if God then used those acorn thoughts to produce immeasurable spiritual growth in each reader?

I wrote the book I would want to hand to any person who has:

- questions about why God allows suffering,
- discovered their faith is too weak to handle the stress and strain of life common to us all,
- has questions about Christianity, or has
- just decided follow Christ.

Do I provide comprehensive answers to all of life's big questions? No.

*Do I provide enough answers to settle a tired soul and inspire to investigate further? I hope so.

Do I explain all there is to know about how God controls the chaos of difficult circumstances? No.

*Do I provide enough information so that a person can start to see how God uses difficulties (even tragedies) for good? I think so.

Do I reveal all there is to know about what it takes to stay on the path of spiritual maturity? No.

*Do I present enough of an understanding that a person can begin walking more closely with Him starting today? I believe so.

Have fun reading my first book. I wrote it for you, whoever you are.
