Building Materials From BuildDirect

BuildDirect is your one stop shop for quality comprehensive building materials, that won't break the bank. We're proud to offer you everything you need to build, renovate, update, or repair your home inside and out. Whether you're a woodworker in search of Baltic Birch Plywood for a weekend project, or a contractor looking for reliable, low cost, easy to handle roofing and siding supplies, we'll cover every step of the building process from our website to your job site.

Panel Products

Advancements in technology and manufacturing in recent years have made panel products a great resource for structural and decorative projects alike. Build your own furniture, cabinets, or structural units with versatile and inexpensive Plywood. Or, give your existing closets, cabinets, and other storage units a face lift with melamine sheets that perfectly replicate the look and feel of wood or stone.

Siding

Quality siding can be a defining feature to residential and commercial exteriors, and improve their curbside value. You can even use it to update the interior of your home with a hearth or accent wall. Most importantly, quality siding enhances the structural strength and weather resistance of your home or office, by maintaining dimensional stability in the face of moisture.

Roofing

Our broad assortment of roofing materials empower you to shop for your climate, budget, and taste. Don't be cornered into purchasing "what's available," peruse our stylish and substantial selection of roofing materials and get the best, for less. Choose from a range of cedar, clay, and metal products designed to protect your residential or commercial space from heat, sleet, rain, and snow.

Build Green, Save Green

When selecting building materials, it's become increasingly important to consider the environmental impact of each product. Choosing the right materials can help decrease energy bills with naturally insulative products, and ensure a safe and healthy indoor environment for your family, employees, customers, and pets with nontoxic, low emissions products.

Building green even benefits the professionals as well. Working with environmentally friendly materials contributes to earning LEED Certification Credits that can increase the value and marketability of your project.

BuildDirect is proud to offer a range of GreenGuard products certified safe for your home, as well as a selection of sustainable and 100% recyclable materials. We're proud to help you build an environmentally sound home, from the ground up, for less.
