Egg Donor Search

Specialty Advertising

Although we are confident that you will find your ideal egg donor within our extensive database, if for any reason you are unable to do so, we offer specialty advertising with the purpose of locating exceptionally hard-to-find donors.

By offering this extra step, it is our goal to ultimately help you succeed in the path to parenthood.

Welcome Intended Parents

Welcome to Peas in a Pod®

Thank you for taking the time to view our site and for your interest in our program. From the very beginning, our agency understands how important our role is as you begin this amazing journey.

Our staff and team of renowned professionals have collectively worked on thousands of arrangements to assist others with their path toward having a family. Our clients are optimally served by having the opportunity to work with the best and experienced individuals.

Our online searchable donor database has been designed and structured to make this process as efficient and simple as possible. We pride ourselves in being one of the few agencies that do not charge our intended parents any type of fee to access and browse our online donor profiles.

Once you have comfortably chosen your ideal donor with PPI, please contact us immediately. We will need to confirm that your guesstimated timeframe will work for your donor and that she is confidently able to proceed with the donation and all the necessary requirements for your cycle. If both parties' timeframes mutually connect, the ovum donation services contract, along with compensation agreement, will be sent to the donor to sign. Likewise, the Intended Parents will also sign an agency agreement and compensation/fee agreement. The Intended Parents then have 14 days to return the signed contracts, acknowledging their commitment to PPI.

After all contracts are received, we will then schedule all necessary consultations and tests needed for the donor to proceed with the ovum process.

The decision to move ahead with an egg donor to build your family is ultimately yours and we truly hope that Peas in a Pod® can be a part of your wonderful endeavor!
