Our buses

Volvo 9700

Why Volvo?

For people by people

Every day, millions of people around the world rely on our buses, and our job is to bring them to their destination. Safely, in comfort and on time. All with a minimum of impact on the environment, and with responsible use of energy and natural resources. That's why quality of life is our guiding star, and that's also why our core values – safety, quality and environmental care – are so much more than words.

Innovation and experience

The first Volvo Bus was built in 1928. Ever since, we have been a trusted developer, manufacturer and partner to the bus and coach business in more than 85 countries. Innovation is a cornerstone, powered by our long experience. It's the synergies between the two that can turn new ideas and new technologies into tangible benefits for our customers – and their passengers.

APPLICATIONS

THE TOUGHEST TRUCK, FOR THE TOUGHEST JOBS

Whether you need tight maneuverability for straight-truck applications like concrete pumpers and mixers or a bridge-law compliant wheelbase for an end-dump tractor, the VHD offers the versatility to meet your needs with available axle-forward and axle-back configurations.

TOUGHER MADE SMARTER

For decades conventional wisdom said vocational truck drivers and owners only cared about dependability. Considerations like safety, efficiency, comfort, and body design couldn't be part of the decision when choosing a dump truck or mixer. Volvo Trucks' engineering team decided to ignore conventional wisdom when they began work on the new Volvo VHD series. They set out to build a vocational truck that has it all.

Tough Inside and Out

The new VHD is designed to set a new standard for vocational trucks, and that includes driver environment. Volvo Truck's latest interior enhancements are found throughout the VHD's cab.

"In the new VHD, Product Design wanted to deliver an interior that has the premium level of modern comfort and warmth you might come to expect from Volvo," according to Brian Balicki, Head of Design at Volvo Trucks North America.

FEATURED NEWS & STORIES

“Volvo’s latest innovations are all over the new VHD.”

Volvo’s latest innovations are all over this truck.

John Felder, Product Marketing Manager, talks about the new VHD.

Why did Volvo Trucks decide to upgrade the VHD?

We wanted to change the picture a little bit with the new VHD. It’s always been wonderfully competent truck. And it has evolved over the years, but 97% of market hasn’t had exposure to this truck. We wanted to tie it to the rest of the Volvo Trucks family visually and give this latest edition of the VHD a big introduction.
