LGPS

We offer primary, secondary and co-investment strategies across private equity, infrastructure and real assets. Investors can access our expertise through long-established fund-of-funds programs or customized portfolios.

We source opportunities through deep relationships and an extensive global network and are highly selective about which opportunities we pursue. Many of the managers to whom we commit capital have been known to Pantheon for a number of years. We are familiar with their investment strategy, their portfolio, their investment teams and what motivates them.

Equally, we have an open-minded approach to new opportunities and are advocates of emerging managers. The private markets universe continues to expand, increasing in size and complexity. We help our clients navigate their way through this complexity and aim to demystify the multiple processes involved in managing a private markets program.

Maximizing performance within private markets requires deep global experience, extensive research, market knowledge and appropriate risk management. Pantheon has an experienced senior investment team with an average of 18 years of private markets experience, supported by a talented pool of junior investment associates.

Collectively, senior members of the Pantheon team sit on the advisory boards of more than 350¹ private equity funds, which gives Pantheon deep and unique insight into both the assets it manages and the industry as a whole.
