Post 1: American Banker: "The Fed's Unexpectedly Bold Payments Idea"—Ripple? <http://www.americanbanker.com/.../the-feds-unexpectedly-bold-...>

The Fed's Unexpectedly Bold Payments Idea
The central bank is floating the concept of using the Internet to facilitate the direct clearing of transactions between financial institutions, which would likely diminish its own role in the U.S. payment system.

Facebook interface for the page "Ripple Labs". The top navigation bar includes the profile picture, name "Ripple Labs", a search bar, and navigation links for "Home" (20+), "Messages", and "Notifications" (1). The main content area features a story image of a book cover titled "THE AGE OF CRYPTOCURRENCY: HOW BITCOIN AND DIGITAL MONEY ARE CHALLENGING THE GLOBAL ECONOMIC ORDER" by PAUL VIGNA AND MICHAEL J. CASEY. The book cover is white with red and black text and features several Bitcoin logos. Below the image are interaction options: "Like · Comment · Share · 24 1 4". A "See More Stories" link is positioned below the image. To the right, a list of group members is shown, including Rene Lima, Mariel Ruiz-Escas..., Linda Choi, Maria C Borges..., Claudine Carrasso, Michelle Orts, Alex Santos, Ana Ayala, Erika Lebow Fuchs, Jorge Ayala, Christy Valdes, Maria I. Luisis, Dania Vazquez, Adriana Morandini, and Jose Boza. Each member's name is accompanied by a small profile picture and an online status indicator (Mobile or Web). Below the member list is a "GROUP CONVERSATIONS" section with a link to a conversation involving Daniel, Gilbert, and Maria. The bottom of the page features a search bar and icons for settings and help.
