CATHETER CARE

Personal hygiene is a vital component of caring for a patient with a urinary catheter. One of the greatest risks involved with urinary catheters is infection. Adequate hygiene can help to reduce this risk and keep the patient healthy.

ENTERAL FEEDING PROGRAM

The Advanced Enteral Nutrition Program is designed to foster advanced knowledge, experience and enthusiasm for enteral nutrition as part of primary therapy in the acute care setting, and to empower dietitians to communicate more effectively with the healthcare team at their facility.

IV THERAPY

Intravenous therapy (IV therapy or iv therapy in short) is the infusion of liquid substances directly into a vein. Intravenous simply means "within vein".

COLOSTOMY CARE

Using an ostomy pouch is the best way to handle your bowel movements after certain kinds of surgery on the colon or small intestine. Your nurse will teach you how to care for your ostomy pouch and how to change it.

HOSPICE PROGRAM

A combination of services designed to address not only the physical needs of patients, but also the psychosocial needs of patients, their loved ones. Hospice programs are available to help terminally ill individuals live their remaining days with dignity.

MEDICATION MANAGEMENT & EDUCATION

To reduce avoidable hospitalizations by improving the home care patient's ability to safely prepare and take medications as prescribed.

DEMENTIA CARE

Caring for a loved one with dementia poses many challenges for families and caregivers. Improving your communication skills will help make caregiving less stressful and will likely improve the quality of your relationship with your loved one.

ILEOSTOMY CARE

Ileostomy care is done to keep your ileostomy and the skin around it clean. This helps prevent skin problems. An ileostomy specialist will show you how to care for your ileostomy.

NUTRITION & HYDRATION PROGRAMS

These programs are aimed at improving, preventing deterioration or maintaining a resident's functional and wellness level and quality of life through an interdisciplinary approach to meal preparation and service.

DIABETIC MANAGEMENT & EDUCATION

Diabetes self-management education (DSME) is a critical element of care for all people with diabetes and is necessary in order to improve patient outcomes.

INDIVIDUALIZED CARE & TREATMENT PLANS

The specialized team of physicians, therapists, nurses and support staff meet on a regular basis to review your individualized treatment plan.

OFF-SITE DIALYSIS

The kidneys have important roles in maintaining health. When healthy, the kidneys maintain the body's internal equilibrium of water and minerals. This process removes waste and excess water from the blood and is primarily used as an artificial replacement for lost kidney function in people with renal failure.

PAIN MANAGEMENT

This branch of medicine employs an interdisciplinary approach for easing the suffering and improving the quality of life of those living with pain.

RESPIRE STAYS

These brief stays, called "respite" or "vacation stays," are also available to help those recently discharged from the hospital who need a little extra help and aren't quite ready to go home.

RESTORATIVE NURSING

Restorative Nursing Program refers to those nursing interventions that promote the resident's ability to live as independently and safely as possible.

WOUND CARE

This is the intricate process where the skin or another organ-tissue repairs itself after injury.
