

Our mission is to provide vital PPE to those who need it most — one mask at a time

OUR STORY

Right now, around the country, many communities are still running out of supplies for its frontline healthcare workers, as well as its most vulnerable populations. Some have told us that they are most likely sick with COVID-19, but there aren't enough tests for them to get a definitive answer. Now they're reusing masks.

we began to speak with medical professionals and have identified communities with the greatest needs. We are fundraising to provide a solution to the supply gap and delivering PPE directly to those who need it most.
