Our Story

Growing up in New England with a Father that eagerly competed with any neighbor or family member to see who could grow the biggest tomatoes and vegetables, set the stage for things to come. My mother consistently created specialty food recipes from the freshly picked garden delights and blueberries frequently picked on Pleasant Mountain

Our Mission

My mission is to bring the love of luxury small batch handcrafted foods to you and your loved ones. The joy of experiencing the bold and bright flavors only handcrafting can bring will promise to give you an eye pop when it hits your palate. All of my creations are designed to inspire your serving creativity. Have fun with the jams.

Gramma Ebby's Team

Judi - Owner / Handcrafter

Hi, I'm Judi. This is one of the only selfies I have ever taken! This venture is a life long goal and is a tribute to my mother who taught me the benefits of handcrafting.

Blue was my mother's favorite color. Her high school picture is embossed in my logo. Thanks Mom for being so wonderful! I miss you and love you. Thanks to you and of course Dad's need for having everything hand made, here

Gramma Ebby - Evelyn Keating

Evelyn Keating, my mother and total inspiration. She taught me the basics to the creativity of handcrafting my own ideas. These are lessons well learned and passed down to my girls. Thanks again Mom!

Jade - Social Media/ Handcrafter

My first daughter Jade is another inspiration in my life. She and her sister always made fun of me when I emphasized the need to create fresh handmade meals. She is now a total believer, total organic and Paleo!

Karen - Master of Coin

Karen is my sister and my rock! She has been in banking for as long as I can

Shaina - Marketing / Handcrafter

Shaina is my youngest daughter and a real lover of organic handcrafted foods like her older sister. They don't make

Blueberry Cake Mix

Wild Maine Blueberries! Is there anything better? I have been enjoying these little bursts of flavor since I can remember. Mom's blueberry cake has been a staple here at family gatherings and a highly requested "bring along" to parties and cookouts. The mix is available using organic flour, sugar and vanilla. It is also available in
