COMMUNITY

For over a decade, the COPD Foundation has provided a growing COPD community with resources and education. Now we want to take our work to the next level.

Welcome to our interactive online community: COPD360social. You can join us and other friends, receive support, ask questions, learn about events in your area, participate in research, chat with the experts, download education materials, and learn how to take action -- all on your time, at your pace.

COPD360social is the COPD Foundation's way of saying 'Thank you' to a community that can make the world take notice of a silent epidemic.

Join COPD360social, because we are stronger when we work together.

Educational Materials and Other Resources

Throughout the entire COPD Foundation website many resources are available to patients, caregivers and health care providers. You can download education materials from our downloads library, learn about our research, advocacy and policy efforts, watch informational videos found throughout the site, and much more. Health care providers can join us in COPD PRAXIS, a collaborative for professionals dedicated to improving the diagnosis and care of individuals with COPD.
