"On World Cancer Day, we say thank you to physicians, researchers, staff, faculty and patients for their commitment to improve cancer research and outcomes. It's been an unprecedented year and we must remember to honor those with a history of cancer and continue to save lives."
— Mia Levy, MD, PhD, director of Rush University Cancer Center

And more wintry weather appears to be headed our way. Give yourself a little extra time if you're traveling to Rush University Medical Center, Rush Oak Park Hospital or Rush Copley Medical Center later today.

Prodduttu Raghu Reddy, MD, interventional cardiologist at Rush: "I have many people come and tell me that they can take care of their grandkids, whereas they couldn't keep up with them before. Or they can take walks with their spouse where they couldn't go that far before."

And more snow appears to be headed this way. Give yourself a little extra time if you're traveling to Rush University Medical Center, @RushOakPark or @rushcopley later today.
