

ABOUT US

Fluent Productions is the video production arm of Fluent Research, a data and insights-driven strategic consulting firm. We harness the power of visual storytelling to bring attention to important issues facing our society, to build empathy and inspire action.

We believe that nonfiction visual storytelling has the power to catalyze change and make a lasting social impact.

Our award-winning production team brings to the table a unique blend of documentary filmmaking experience, a keen journalistic eye for the stories that matter, and the researchers' passion for shedding light on the human condition.

Having worked in over 70 countries around the world, our video production capabilities are global.
