DISCOVERING CURIOSITY

How some of the greatest minds of our time answer the simple question: “What makes you curious?”

FROM THE FIELD

“I know Richard Sergay. If you don’t, you should. He’s a creative, strategic thinker with a curiosity bump the size of Gibraltar! He has years of experience with television and digital production, much of it aimed at articulating the importance and significance of scientific research for the general public. You will not find a more enthusiastic and engaged colleague anywhere.”

— DR. VINT CERF, VP AND CHIEF INTERNET EVANGELIST, GOOGLE. FATHER OF THE INTERNET

“Richard Sergay is one of the most capable human resources in the domains of television and digital programming and strategic thinking in communications. He’s worked on a dizzying array of subjects at the highest levels of broadcast journalism, worked with A-level thought leaders around the world, and touched almost every major discipline you can think of. From rolling out major breaking news, to framing a long-standing issue, to pulling talent and luminaries together to problem a question or tackle a problem, there are few people capable of executing as Richard can.”

— WAYNE PACELLE, FORMER PRESIDENT & CEO OF THE HUMANE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES & AUTHOR OF TWO NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLERS, THE BOND & THE HUMANE ECONOMY.

“Richard Sergay has a long and distinguished career as one of America’s top television producers. Whether it was guiding Peter Jennings legendary news coverage for ABC Evening News or establishing Curiosity.com for Discovery’s John Hendricks, Richard’s creativity and shrewd strategic mind has given us unforgettable moments in television, and now the digital world. Richard manages to both think “big picture” and find the “small nuggets” that makes for riveting and engaging content. He is one of the rare masters of the medium.”

— JACK LESLIE, CHAIRMAN, WEBER SHANDWICK

“Richard has made an enormous contribution to the world by recognizing before most that how people collaborate matters as much as what they are able to create together. He’s a rare mix of far-sighted visionary and world-class storyteller who knows how to build momentum for ideas.”

— DAVID KELLEY, FOUNDER IDEO
