- Question: Is the radio ham wall at woke fire and e.m.s ch
Answer: Please be aware that Ailunce HD1 is a dual band two way radio. It can operate on the following frequency range: 136-174 and 400-480MHz. And, since rural fire departments, as well state and federal wildland agencies, typically use the VHF high band (150-174MHz), so you can use this radio for fire e.m.s

★★★★☆ Good Amateur Tansceiver!
Reviewed in the United States on February 23, 2018
Verified Purchase

Update: 25-August-2018: Ailunce creates a new firmware and addressed many issues reported in my review; hence, I updated my review from 4-stars to 4.5-stars.

I purchased the HD1 and the HD1GPS; and, my experiences with both transceivers have been positive.

The reason I purchased this transceiver is I needed a back-up to my Motorola XPR 7550e (UHF), XPR 7550 (VHF), and XPR 7580 (UHF); and, I was hoping the Ailunce HD1GPS would be the back-up to my Motorolas for my ICS-based Emergency Comms Operations.

Unfortunately, because the Ailunce HD1GPS is Direct Conversion without an effective front-end filter (I don't know if it has a front-end filter), I cannot use it for my ICS-based Emergency Comms Operations. Since, Ailunce marketed the HD1GPS as a HAM transceiver and not as an emergency mission-critical transceiver, I will not ding it for desensitize communications.

My Motorolas are Super Heterodyne, and I now have FPP; hence, they are my only comm tools for my ICS-based ★★★★★ XLNT tech support. To hear analog transmissions using the HD-1, use a custom setting

Reviewed in the United States on June 27, 2018
Verified Purchase

I bought the Ailunce HD-1 at the end of June with the intention of using it as my primary H/T radio for both DMR and FM. Configuring the HD-1 code plug with the proper DMR settings took some time. Fortunately, there are lots of helpful websites and YouTube videos that explain the unique terms used for DMR communication such as the Talk Groups and Color Codes. To date, I have made three contacts on DMR and plan to expand my activity in this area.

On the other hand, I was frustrated for many weeks in being unable to hear live transmissions that were being routed through local FM repeaters. I could not figure out why this was happening, as I had entered the same PL (CTCSS) codes that worked fine in my other H/T radio that only does FM. I originally thought my HD-1 had a defective speaker, so I was able to connect with Angele, Retevis' Support Representative for Amazon, who graciously arranged to exchange my original radio with a new replacement.

At first, the replacement radio didn't fare any differently than the original one I bought from Amazon. Angela provided me with early access to a firmware update that had not yet been released on its website. Installing the new firmware didn't provide audio reception functionality, either. Finally, I was asked to email a copy of my code ★★★★☆ Great design & audio. Firmware has serious issues.

Reviewed in the United States on November 9, 2018
Verified Purchase

I love the look & feel of the radio. Great speaker audio, good Mic audio. RF power output is far less than advertised. The Firmware is a real problem. No visual indication of activity on any frequency unless matched TalkGroup & TimeSlot. The LED only works when a valid signal is received. The LED & Signal meter should show if there is a signal on the frequency. I waited long enough and tried several Firmware versions. Please FIX so this review can be better.

★★★★★ Great DMR radio with excellent support from Retevis
Reviewed in the United States on April 11, 2019
Verified Purchase

This is an excellent radio for both DMR and analog. The build quality is very good. The audio is excellent. It works flawlessly with my hotspot. I love the fact I can upload 100,000 contacts with the stock firmware. Other reviewers go into more detail on why this particular DMR radio is so good so I won't repeat their comments.

I would like to point out that Retevis provides excellent support which also deserves five stars. I had a problem transferring radio setting from my PC to the Ailunce HD1. It was very frustrating. I contacted their support department and got a reply within a few hours. They tracked my issue in their system and provided a solution that completely solved the problem. I am very happy with the radio and the excellent support. I wouldn't hesitate to buy it again.

★★★★★ Ailunce HD1 GPS radio the best radio for someone new to DMR radio
Reviewed in the United States on April 17, 2018
Verified Purchase

I'm New to DMR radio. this radio (HD1) is very easy to program with the software they have on their site. the radio has plenty of power with 10 watts on VHF and 8 watts uhf. the radio can be programed from the front panel when you are on the go or at a swap meet without having to take your Laptop.

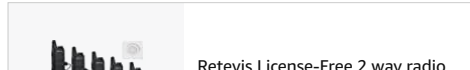

Now for the bad: guess what there is no bad.
If your looking to get into DMR radio this is the one you need to buy.
