Letter From The President:

It is such a pleasure and joy to spend this evening with those who share a passion for this special part of the world. Your attendance and support of the Heritage Ball are important ways that you make Williamson County an even better place to live.

On behalf of the Heritage Foundation Board of Directors, I extend our heartfelt appreciation for your attendance and continual support. Thank you to FirstBank, our presenting sponsor, and all of our wonderful sponsors and table hosts! Your gifts of time, talent, and treasure make it possible for us to accomplish our goals of preservation, promotion, education, and festivals.

The work of the Foundation has never been more vital to this amazing community. During my time on the board and during my two and a half years as your president, due to your efforts and with the support of so many "champions" who have led the charge for great events and projects, we have continued our remarkable journey: The reopening of a "new" Franklin Theatre; the negotiation, purchase and closing on the property at the epicenter of the Battle of Franklin with continuing plans to create the Cotton Gin battlefield park; the coming presence of FirstBank in the historic Five Points Post Office; and the purchase of the Old, Old Jail as a new center for historic preservation. Our Board has adopted a long range plan with priorities such as saving the Old, Old Jail, championing riverwalks and greenways, continuing improvement of the West Main neighborhood, and other significant projects to continue to make this the best place to live in America. We hope you will heartily support these efforts. To stay current with our efforts, visit us at historicfranklin.com.

This ball would not be possible without the talent and dedication of our ball chairs Jan and Andy Marshall, our design chair Angela Calhoun, our committee chairs, our amazing Foundation staff, and the volunteers who give so much! Please join me in expressing our appreciation to them.

Thank you again for your attendance and support. Have a great evening.

—Cyril Stewart

About The Farmers

Allenbrooke Farms is a 120 acre family farm in Spring Hill, TN, and is farmed by husband and wife team Daniel and Stephanie Allen. Daniel, a third generation farming the land, embraces the use of natural, organic farming methods. Vegetables grown at the farm are available through their weekly CSA program or at the Franklin Farmers Market. Everything grown at Allenbrooke Farms is of the highest quality, but even more importantly, it is grown with love and with the intention that it bless the quality of life and nourish not only the bodies, but the hearts of those who share in its bounty.

Bloomsbury and Spring Meadow Farm nestled in the hills between Smyrna and Nolensville is home to Lauren and Paschal Jennings. The Jennings excel in growing sprouts, wheat grass and micro-greens year round in their state of the art greenhouses. During the warmer seasons you will find them also growing organic vegetables on their farm, including many heirloom varieties, which are sold at local farmers markets in the Nashville area. At Bloomsbury farm, they believe in improving the health of the community by providing the safest and freshest foods possible.

Delvin Farms is a three generation certified organic farm located on 220 acres of College Grove. The Delvins grow over 50 varieties of vegetables during the three seasons of the year in the deep, fertile soil of the upper Harpeth River Watershed. Using organic growing methods, the farm produces fruits and vegetables in a way that helps build the soils, improve the quality of the water and protect the land for generations of future farming use. All of the vegetables grown on the farm are sold locally through farmers markets, including the Franklin Farmers Market, restaurants, grocery stores and directly through their weekly CSA program.

Bear Creek Farm is home to Bill and Lee Ann Cherry who raise Black Angus cattle on the rich farmland and rolling hills of Leiper's Fork here in Williamson County. As a family business, they have raised cattle for more than 20 years with the philosophy of treating the animals humanely and with respect, using gentle farming methods that produce happy and healthy cows. The cattle at Bear Creek are grass fed and grain finished on the 1200 acres of pasture and farm land. The grain finishing adds marbling and tenderness to the meat which enhances the flavor and produces the best tasting beef.

Dustin and Justyne Noble's farm, Noble Springs Dairy, located minutes from downtown Franklin, is a modern dairy preserving the art of Dutch cheese making. Together with their herd of 70 goats, the Nobles produce rich, hand crafted cheeses on their farm. These artisan cheeses include such delicacies as chevre, feta and aged Harpeth Fleure. At Noble Springs, they take pride in knowing that every drop of milk that goes into the cheese is derived from the natural forages the goats enjoy on the farm.

Letter From The Executive Director

What a tradition the early members of the Heritage Foundation started when they produced the first Heritage Ball! Forty years ago Marty Ligon chaired the ball and among the invitees were Mr. J. Roderick Heller III, his parents, and other McGavock descendants. One of Marty's goals was to invite as many people with a family connection to Carnton as possible, because Carnton needed to be restored and turned into a house museum. Here we are, four decades later, and Marty is still a volunteer, Rod and Kay Heller continue to do extraordinary work to preserve Franklin, and Carnton is one of the biggest jewels in Franklin's crown. We as an organization can be proud that there is a long legacy of stellar volunteers and donors working under the umbrella of the Heritage Foundation to save what matters in our community.

This year the Heritage Ball King and Queen are Dr. Joe Willoughby and his lovely wife, Betty. They have yet to miss a Heritage Ball! It was their determination along with the commitment of many others who made sure that Carnton was saved as a memorial to the bloody Battle of Franklin and as a symbol of our town's history.

One of the joys and challenges of historic preservation is that another project is always just around the corner. Next up for us is the Old, Old Jail. Last month we purchased this 1941 Art Deco building from the City of Franklin and are knee deep in plans to turn it into both a headquarters for the Heritage Foundation and a center for historic preservation. This long-neglected building is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and it is the perfect project for us. No one else has stepped up to save this building and we need a "big house for historic preservation." It's time for the Heritage Foundation to have its own permanent home in downtown Franklin before property values rise to the place where we are priced out of where we need to be.

Thank you for being with us this evening to celebrate and raise money for the Heritage Foundation of Franklin and Williamson County. Just remember as we work to rehabilitate the Old, Old Jail, it is clear that we are "IN FOR LIFE." Preserving the places that matter is a continuing journey that has earned Franklin national recognition on so many levels: as a leader in historic preservation, as an attractive place for businesses such as FirstBank, CapWealth Advisors, and Lexus of Nashville, as a tourist destination, and as a place to raise a family. Of course, our five-generation families, business people and retirees all know that there is no better place to call home.

Mary Pearce
Executive Director
Heritage Foundation of Franklin and Williamson County
