

BOND provides support and opportunities for mothers with daughter's grades 6-12 to build a strong mother-daughter relationship along with personal, educational, professional development, and cultural experiences to address a full spectrum of challenges faced by single mothers.

Through active engagement with one another and the Baltimore community BOND mothers and daughters gain:

- Communication Skills
- Socio-emotional supports
- Academic Supports
- Cultural Development
- Character Development
- Service Learning
- Arts Exposure
- Health and Fitness Education

In the News

Learn more about our founder and CEO, Aletra Griffin, who was recently featured on the Baltimore Sun podcast Female Trouble.

BOND's Arts & Thanksgiving Basket Drive reaches more than 100 single-parent families. Read more in the Baltimore Sun article.

The screenshot shows a group of people, including a woman and a young girl, sitting at a table and painting. There are paint palettes, brushes, and a bowl of water on the table. The background is a plain wall. The text is overlaid on the image.