OBERHEIM DS-2 Digital Sequencer SN 050

via this auction

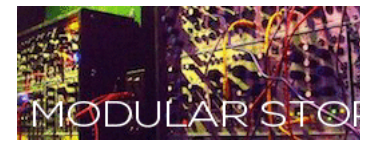

"Rare OBERHEIM DS-2 DIGITAL SEQUENCER. Made in Santa Monica, CA around 1974. Serial number: 050. Excellent working condition. Unit is 17.5" wide and 11" tall.

The DS-2 was probably the first commercially produced digital sequencer, and very few were made. I believe the DS-2 pre-dates the SEM and was Tom Oberheim's first product under his own name. Number 50 is in superb cosmetic condition and is running well. The right Panaplex gas discharge/plasma numeric display is missing some segments but works fine and is very readable. The left display is perfect. There are a few nicks and scratches and a little tape residue on the back. The lighted buttons work fine but some are slightly brighter than others. Comes with instruction/service manual.

I've played the DS-2 for many years with an Oberheim 2-voice and have always loved the possibilities of using this in tandem with the TV's on-board mini-sequencer. The big NASA layout is beautiful in its simplicity. Definitely a collector's item but also a real blast to use. Especially the three discrete, tunable transpose settings are very useful and breathe new life into your sequences when used on the fly..." Pics of the back below.

MINT CONDITION VINTAGE

Oberheim OB-X

Vintage Classic Synthesizer 61 key w/ Anvil Road Case Owners manual

8 Voice

The first of the OB series Oberheim synths, this is a classic analog synthesizer available in 4, 6 or 8 voice configurations. It featured a 2 pole VC lowpass filter with its own ADSR, a VCA with ADSR, a flexible LFO section, polyphonic sample and hold, polyphonic portamento and 32 patches memory. Although it has been over-shadowed by the bigger and more popular OB-Xa and OB-8 synths which offer more flexible programming, OB-X still holds its own. Capable of lush analog synth sounds comparable to the Sequential Prophet 5 but at a reasonable price. The OB-X gives you Polymod functionality, something that the OB-Xa and OB-8 do not have.

100% original. Mint condition. 1 key has a very very minor chip (see pics)

Rare 1976 Oberheim TVS-1 Two Voice analog synthesizer in Very Good - Excellent condition. Serial Number: 28 Made in Santa Monica, CA, USA.

This is Oberheim's first keyboard synth. Unit is 100% original, fully intact and has the original power cord. All of the original controls and knobs are present.

Unit powers up and produces classic tone. All keys and controls appear to work properly, however we are not synth players and have not thoroughly tested this unit - who knows when it last saw a Tech, so it is being sold as-is.

Comes from a long defunct sound studio. Some of the keys need adjusted for depth alignment with allen wrench.

Amazing and historic piece of polyphonic hardware. Crazy early unit - probably hand wired by Tom.

Will ship internationally.
