

About OpenSea

Making true digital ownership more accessible

The largest marketplace for crypto collectibles

Founded in November 2017, OpenSea is proud to remain the largest general marketplace for crypto collectibles, with the broadest set of categories (50 and growing), the most items (over 1.2 million), and the best prices. We're doing this through a community of passionate users and developers. We partner with game developers to create customizable storefronts for users to automatically buy and sell their crypto collectibles.

A core part of our vision is that open protocols like Ethereum and interoperable standards like ERC721 will enable vibrant new economies where users truly own their digital items. We think open, liquid marketplaces will help power these new economies. As such, we're building tools that allow any developer to build rich, integrated marketplaces for their digital assets.

We are a team with backgrounds from Stanford, Palantir, Google, and Pinterest, funded by YCombinator, Founders Fund, Coinbase Ventures, 1Confirmation, Blockstack, and Blockchain Capital.

The Team

 Alex Atallah Co-founder & CTO Alex was the CTO of hostess.fm, which was acquired by Beatport in 2014. He previously worked at Palantir building cybersecurity products.	 Devin Finzer Co-founder & CEO Devin Finzer has a background in software engineering at Google and Pinterest, and sold his previous company, Claimdog, to Credit Karma.	 Jordan Messina Founding Engineer Jordan spent the last 5 years building and growing Density, a hardware startup. He's best known in this space for creating KittyHats.
 Jessica Phan Designer Jessica does all things designs from user experiences to branding. Previously, she has designed solutions for Samsung, SAP, JCPenney, Sequoia Capital and more.	 Daniel Viau Engineer Dan's licensed to practice law, and while he still writes the odd contract, he spends his days building software instead of building cases.

Build your own marketplace in minutes

OpenSea provides a one-stop shop for creating your own customizable marketplace for your ERC721 or non-fungible token (NFT) project. Allow users to smoothly buy and sell your items, get custom stats and analytics, and earn revenue when your items get traded.

GUIDES

Open your own marketplace

Let your users freely trade your ERC721 items by opening your own marketplace on OpenSea.

Customize

You can finally open a beautiful, customizable marketplace on your own domain, fully integrated into your project.

Set your own fee

By opening your your storefront on OpenSea, you can set your own fee on the secondary sales of your items. Whenever a user makes a sale, you earn a commission.

Get stats & insights

Get stats and insights to see how your collectibles are trending.

Get exclusive updates

Run your own crowd sale

Sell the items in your game to an initial user base of early adopters. Even sell off items in your own token.

Sell packs of items

Instead of individual items, you can finally sell packs of items to give more to your users.

Airdrop items to users as rewards

Reward your users with items to grow your app's user base.

Create lootboxes

Create lootboxes to gamify your app and build engagement.

Fetch assets with our API

OpenSea provides an HTTP API for fetching non-fungible ERC721 assets based on a set of query parameters. Wallets and websites can now display:

Assets

Get assets filtered by a particular collectible type, or belonging to a particular wallet address

Activity

Get events happening on all assets (not just on our marketplace), including sales, listings, bids, transfers, and more

Profile

Get usernames and profile details for account addresses
