I WANT BETTER WATER

The H2o Concepts, 1044 Combo 3/4 inch is two systems in one.

The first part of our Arizona Whole House Water Filter System is the patented, certified scale prevention system also know as (AMP Force Technology). It is used to break up the minerals in your water. This product eliminates scale build-up in your internal plumbing, which prevents your water from damaging your water-using appliances making them last longer.

The second part of the system is our certified water filtration system that uses the highest quality water filtration medias providing: great tasting, safer, healthier, better quality water for drinking, bathing and other uses at every tap in your home. The H2o Concepts media will remove chlorine and contaminants from the water at every tap and shower in your home or business.

The H2o Concepts system is “unique”, combining two systems into one tank. Our system does not use salt or potassium chloride to condition your water. The AMP Force Technology eliminates hard water problems in your internal plumbing. The filtration gives you superior quality water throughout your home.

H2o Concepts systems are environmentally friendly because our system uses less water and does not add any chemicals or salt brine to the environment

Every Arizona Whole House Water Filter System is manufactured by H2o Concepts in our Phoenix, AZ (USA) facility and is built to meet your water-specific requirements at your home or business. Water varies in quality from one home to another and that is why it is important to install the right water treatment or conditioner that is based on your water needs.

How the H2o Concepts 1044 Combo system works:

There are 4 parts to the system...

Amp Force

Instead of exchanging the calcium and magnesium bicarbonate for sodium or potassium (ion exchange) like a water softener, the Amp Force™ Technology concentrates on the bicarbonate crystals of the minerals. In their bicarbonate form, these minerals form on one-another causing buildup with-in the plumbing and results are premature failure of water using appliances.

Calcium and magnesium bicarbonate crystals are insoluble, but can be changed by temperature (energy) into the soluble form of carbonate crystals.

The photo below shows bicarbonate crystals that are clumping; this provides an example of how the crystals can buildup inside your plumbing system.

Calcite

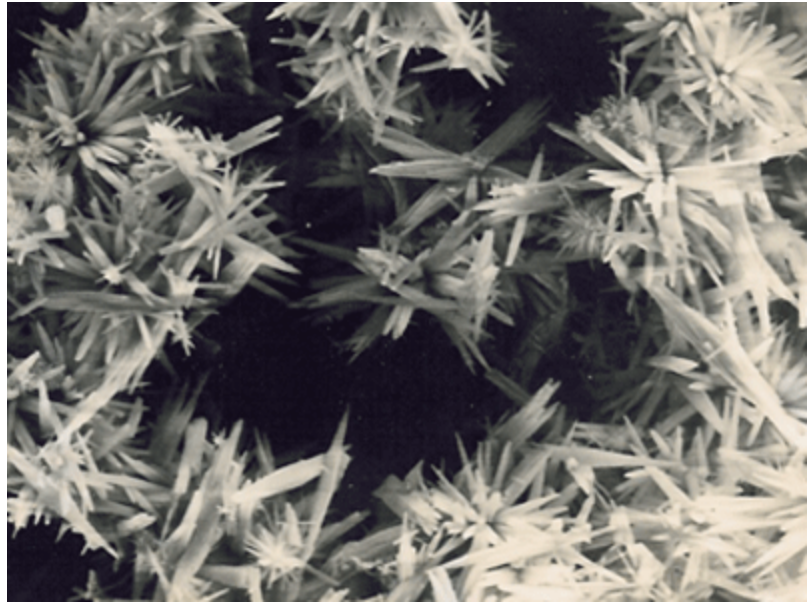

Aragonite

The Media

The Carbon

The Quartz

Calcite is a type of calcium carbonate crystal that is soluble and has a rhombohedral (dog-tooth like) shape. These crystals are small, very adherent and still create deposits in plumbing and fixtures. Typically, boiling water will convert bicarbonate crystals to this form of carbonate crystal. An example would be the hard-to-remove white residue left inside a pan when water is boiled down on a stove.
