WOLFIE COHEN
THE MILLION DOLLAR RASCAL

Careful Motel Row with its twinkling neon, tropical foliage and thousands of happy vacationers would still be a swamped had it not been for the foresight and inspiration of one like Wolfie Cohen, who developed the area into Florida's gayest playground. In 1934, when Wolfie Cohen opened his Rascal House, there were only a handful of motels surrounded by mangroves. Now the Motel Strip is the place for action, with 8,500 rooms in 63 luxurious motels, 3 shopping centers, 3 movie theaters, bowling alleys and night clubs all in a 3-mile area catering to more than 20,000 vacationers daily.

Wolfie Cohen established the Sandwich Shop type of operation and made it a success. His record of successful operations is unsurpassed as testified to by Al's Sandwich Shop (1943), Wolfie's 21st Street (1947), Wolfie's Lincoln Road (1948), Pompano's (1951), Sunny (1952) and The Rascal House (1954). As testimony to his fantastic ability, this type of operation has been copied throughout the nation.

In May, 1934, he surprised his six previous restaurants by opening The Rascal House. He advertised the first day's meals were free to all comers and he cheerfully served 2,000 people on the house. Other restaurateurs howled untidily at his lavish opening. They called him "The Greengard" and "The Rascal" because one upon he had done the unbelievable. They also gave him the name for his Rascal House Restaurant.

When some restaurateurs had tight to his profit book, Wolfie Cohen says, "I believe in using the profits for continuous improvements which are constantly calculated to speed service, reduce waiting time and add to the customer's comfort." He says, "I believe in breakfast, lunch, dinner or supper snacks." As of January 1, 1975 covering a period of 21 years, the Rascal House Restaurant has served:

51,000,070 people	126,659,699 rolls
5,207,200 corned beef sandwiches	22,000,377 eggs
199,725 shrimp cakes	200,142 lbs. Bar-B-Q ribs
235,549 marshmallows	273,100 Oysters
663,238 lbs. shrimp	569,223 gals. fresh orange juice

Wolfie Cohen is guided by a belief that customers have a "Share the attitude, the senses any well-thought operation of food where mounting parties can sit at a table. Variety is the key to the menu at The Rascal House. Here the diner can run the gamut from seafood and meats to old-fashioned favorites like stuffed cabbage, luncheon or corned beef.

Locally Wolfie Cohen has become a legend. Miami Beach City Councilman (1959-61, 1963-65), philanthropist, pioneer, spokesman, he is still active in the many local projects and improvements with which he has helped in the past and present. His fame has spread with the entire name of each visitor to Miami Beach.
