I am so glad we visited Williams Piano to purchase our piano!

We actually got a BETTER deal than we would have on Amazon, we got to support a lovely local business that has been serving Boston for three generations, and delivery/assembly was included.

Dan was friendly and a great help as we considered the different options. You can call ahead if there is a particular model you are interested in.

Definitely make this your first stop if you are shopping for a piano or keyboard in the Boston area!

The store has an impressive selection of Yamaha pianos as well as several digital pianos which I was in the market for. Dan was more than helpful with explaining the features of various pianos and allowed me to test the instruments at my own pace. He also delivered the piano and assembled it which was very much appreciated. All in all, great service! Prices were very much comparable to online retailers along with the added personal attention you can only get from a store like this one.

I purchased a Yamaha B2 Piano with Yamaha's Silent System last week. There were three things about Williams Piano that impressed me and left me with a very positive impression:

- 1) There was no pressure to purchase, and they never tried to upsell me.
- 2) They were very patient with me and answered all my questions. I told them my budget was on the very low end of what they sold but this didn't have any impact on the level of service I received. They let me play whatever I wanted for as long as I wanted (two full hours).
- 2) The final price they offered was superb and beat my expectations. As a reference point, I had recently seen the same piano configuration I bought at Costco on the Yamaha Roadshow sale. Not only did they beat the Costco price by several hundred dollars, but they also included with it sales tax, delivery and two free tunings, so the savings was a lot more than the sticker difference indicated.

I bought a piano for my apartment and William's gladly accommodated my schedule (including a rebooking) for a tuning. One of their tuners, Chris, came over and efficiently tuned the piano and was happy to go into detail and chat afterwards. He was a pleasure to work with, and I'll definitely go back to William's when I need to get the piano tuned.
