▶ How can I buy Facebook Credits?

Facebook Credits are available for purchase through some games or apps on Facebook. You can purchase Facebook Credits in your preferred currency using a major credit card, PayPal, your mobile phone and many other local payment methods powered by UltimatePay and LiveGamer.

If you try to buy something in a game or app that costs more Facebook Credits than you currently have in your account balance, your Credits balance will be used towards the cost of the item and you will be prompted to purchase more Credits, which will be charged to your selected payment method.

The following example might clarify how in-game purchases work:

- You want to buy 25 Cafe Cash, priced $5.70 USD (57 Facebook Credits when paying with credit card or PayPal).
- You have a value of $1.10 USD (11 Facebook Credits) as part of your Facebook account balance.
- You need to pay $4.60 USD (46 Facebook Credits) to complete your purchase.

To see a list of available currencies, go to the Payments tab and click "change" next to "Preferred Currency." Purchases in non-US currencies are first converted to US dollars using the current exchange rate, then Facebook Credits are added to your account at USD $0.10 each.

Depending on your mobile carrier and your country, the mobile payment option may only be available for purchases under USD $10.00 of Credits.

Note: when you add a credit card to your account, Facebook makes a small temporary charge to validate your credit card. This charge should disappear from your credit card statement within three to five business days.
